ACCESS TO THE MANUSCRIPTS.

The privilege of access to the manuscript archives of the Department of State may be secured, so far as the facilities at command and the convenience of the office admit, upon application by letter to the Secretary of State. Applicants should describe as concisely and definitely as may be possible the papers they desire to consult, the scope of the examination contemplated, and the period of time during which they purpose to avail themselves of the permission, if accorded.

The privilege is to be exercised under the following

SPECIAL RULES AS TO MANUSCRIPTS DEPOSITED IN THE BUREAU OF ROLLS AND LIBRARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I. Persons to whom the privilege of consulting the manuscript archives of the Department of State is granted can exercise the permission only subject to the convenience of the Department and the uninterrupted transaction of its business.

II. No manuscript shall, at any time, be taken out of the Department except by order in writing of the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary.

III. No manuscript shall be taken out of the Bureau of Rolls and Library, into any room of the Department, until a receipt in form and descriptive of the paper or volume be signed by the official taking the same and delivered to the Chief of the Bureau, or, in his absence, to the person in charge.

IV. No manuscript shall be detained from its place on the shelves of the Bureau of Rolls and Library after 4 p. m. of the day it shall have been taken ; and no manuscript shall be taken from its place on the shelves by any others than the clerks in charge, except by special arrangement in exceptional circumstances.

V. The use of the indexes in the room in which the manuscripts are deposited is not permitted except through the clerks in charge.

VI. The privilege of consulting the manuscript archives does not include the use of the Library. The latter privilege must be independently asked of the Chief of the Bureau of Rolls and Library.

By order of the Secretary of State.

CHAPTER H. The papers and manuscripts of Benjamin Franklin, purchased by authority of an act of Congress approved August 7, 1882.

CHAPTER I. Records of the States and Territories. Beginning with the journals and proceedings of the North West Territory.

CHAPTER K. The acts and resolutions of Congress; treaties between the United States and other powers; proclamations by the President and Executive orders and announcements.

CHAPTER L. Records of the proceedings of commissions established by treaty for the consideration and settlement of questions involving boundaries and international claims.

CHAPTER M. Letters of ceremony addressed to the Government of the United States on extraordinary occasions by the heads and governments of foreign states.

CHAPTER N. The war of 1812. Records concerning the granting of letters of marque. Privateer bonds and miscellaneous manuscripts in the custody of the Department of State.

[Other chapter designations will follow.]

INDEX.

[For the purposes of this index the several classes of papers deposited in the Bureau of Rolls and Library are considered as one collection. The Bureau, under existing equipment, can not confine its indexes or catalogues to any one particular class or collection of papers without neglecting others, to which there exists at present little, if any, clue. While this series of indexes will, therefore, follow the alphabetical arrangement in the sense of authors, titles, and subjects combined, without regard to the separation by classes of the severally distinct collections of papers, the separated papers of any collection can be readily united by the chapter initial. The existing classification and arrangement of the bound manuscripts (by volume and number) will not be disturbed except where the restoration and preservation of the papers render ripping and re-binding imperative; and in that, as well as in the binding of loose papers, the original classification and arrangement will be followed as closely as may be to avoid the possible confusion consequent upon numerous citations from original manuscripts and references to them by historical writers in their published works.]

ACTIVE (sloop). 1779. Taken by Gideon Olmsted and three other mariners; they protest against being deprived of their right in her by the State of Pennsylvania. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 17, page 293.

AGNEW, JOHN. Carlisle, October 22, 1777. To the President of Congress (John Hancock). Letter from him, John Montgomery, George Stroenson, Stephen Duncan, and S. Postlethwaite, of the committee of Carlisle, in behalf of Dr. John Kearsley, of Philadelphia (a State prisoner), who has been in close confinement for nearly a year; his health broken; his room unfit even for a well man. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 15, page 273.

BRACKENRIDGE, — (Captain). 1779. Major Henry Lee, in making his report, omitted Brackenridge's name; wishes it inserted among the captains—Reed, McLane, and others—before printing. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 14, page 282.

BRADFORD, J. Boston, October 10, 1776. To the President of Congress (John Hancock). Introduces Samuel Horlock and — Livingston, prisoners taken on the way from Jamaica to London; partisans of our cause. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 93.

———. Boston, October 16, 1777. To the Secret Committee. William Bingham, at Martinico, incloses bill of lading for twenty cases of muskets and ten bales of tents and cloth for soldiers' clothing, received from France. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 297.

———. Boston, June 24, 1778. To Congress. Arrival of the Henrietta and Three Friends, the former without papers; no knowledge of the cargo, though supposes it belongs principally to Mr. Morris, so took charge of it; wishes orders from the commercial board respecting disposition of the cargo of the captured brig Tryton. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 493.

———. June 24, 1778. Ordered by Timothy Pickering to deliver to the order of the governor and council of Rhode Island forty chests received by the Three Friends; if they are on public account, will have them valued; gives various details concerning cargoes, and wishes directions. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 494.

———. 1778. Marine agent at Boston. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 159.

———. Boston, January 5, 1779. To the Marine Board. Cargo and arms on board the General Arnold injured by violent gales. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 237.

———. Boston, September 23, 1779. To W. Whipple (chairman of the Marine Committee). Having no storage for the rum and sugar belonging to the Contentment, was obliged to sell. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 353.

———. Boston, October 21, 1779. To Francis Lewis. Had received orders from the Marine Committee not to sell either rum or sugar; the people clamorous for them, and fears are entertained that depredations will be made on them if sales are not allowed. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 367.

———. Boston, June 13, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). The money from the sale of three hundred hogsheads of sugar to be turned into the Treasury. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 477.

———. Boston, July 6, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Has received letter and resolves of Congress relative to the snow Nostra Senioria de Carmel; is to have an interview with the board; can inform Congress of the result by next post. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 493.

———. Boston, July 12, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Has had several interviews with the Board of War on the subject of Captain Duarti's demand on the Board of War of Massachusetts; Mr. Morton (attorney) gave reasons why Congress resolved that the board should pay into his (Bradford's) hands the gross and not the net amount of the snow and cargo; can not convince the board of the propriety of this measure; details concerning supplies. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 497.

———. Boston, July 31, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Has endeavored in vain to procure bills on Europe in favor of the "Portuguese Stranger,"(?) as ordered; suggests that bills may be forwarded, so the amount can be paid to Mr. Holker's agent; this would possibly facilitate the settlement with Captain Duarti; incloses copy of a letter from the Navy Board, which vindicates his conduct in supplying the board with moneys arising from the sale of sugar. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 517.

———. Boston, August 10, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Refers to letter of July 31, pointing out a mode of accommodating Captain Duarti; Mr. Holker's agent, however, declines to come into the arrangment; thinks it best to acquaint Congress with this disappointment. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 7.

———. Boston, August 28, 1780. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Is gratified by the - head, signed by him and other officers, declining to serve under him until cleared of the charges pending against him. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 201.

- BRAGO DI BIO, GAETAN. Genoa, May 4, 1789. Suggests himself for the position of consul at Genoa. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 585.
- BRAHAM, FERDD. J. S. DE. June 25, 1781. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Incloses account for his pay and subsistence; would be glad of a settlement; after a long captivity, has no money; begs Congress to order sufficient payment to enable him to join headquarters, where he is ordered by Brigadier-General du Portail, his commanding officer. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 179.
- (Major of Engineers). Philadelphia, July 16, 1781. To the President of Congress (Thomas McKean). Impossibility of following General Washington's orders, unless his account for two years' pay be settled, or Congress orders a small sum to be paid him; $400 and two horses is all he asks. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 237.
- BRANDYWINE (battle). 1777. Conduct of Major-General Sullivan. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 9, page 69.
- BRASHER, ABM. (Colonel). Morristown, July 13, 1780. To the Committee of Congress. List of articles sent by William Peacock, wagoner, by order and for the use of the committee. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 5, page 493.
- BREMAR, F. Philadelphia, November 19, 1781. To Congress. Acted as deputy commissary of musters in South Carolina for eighteen months; Lieutenant-Colonel Massey received three months' pay agreeably to resolve of September 28; respectfully requests to be paid a like sum; several months' pay due in addition to above. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 269.
- BRENT, —— (Colonel Virginia Line). August 5, 1780. Representations as to receiving two Virginia regiments on the Continental establishment. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 9, page 329.
- BRENTON, SILAS C. St. Pierre, March 24, 1780. To H. Marchant (Delegate from Rhode Island). Probable expedition against St. Lucia; Mr. Bingham leaves for Philadelphia in the Confederacy, and has constituted

- Mr. Parsons agent in his absence; he is suspected of being unfavorable to our cause; recommends Mr. Minot as having given proofs of his attachment. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 451.
- BREWER, JONATHAN (Captain Lieutenant). Philadelphia, September 24, 1778. To the President of Congress (Henry Laurens). Was taken prisoner at Germantown; has been in close confinement for eight months; was released in August only; is entirely without money; applied to the Board of War for an order for his pay; was told that Congress had no mode of paying prisoners; begs redress. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 193.
- . Philadelphia, February 9, 1779. To the President of Congress (John Jay). Resigns his commission; insufficient pay the cause. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 287.
- BRICE, A. HILL (Royal Fusileers, prisoner of war). Brunswick, April 5, 1776. To Congress. Begs permission to come to Philadelphia for better medical advice. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 17.
- BRIDGE, EBENR. (Colonel). 1775. Certificate as to voluntary services of Samuel Langdon, president of Harvard College, as chaplain of the Army in Cambridge. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 14, page 27.
- BRINDLEY, FRANCIS (Lieutenant). April 15, 1776. Colonel James Livingston's First Canadian Regiment. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 14, page 325.
- BRISCOE, WILLM. Lambeth, June 23, 1780. To M. Raymond Ferdinande. Absurd stories concerning America believed in England; turbulent state of London; insurrections and tumults; the Royal Exchange used as a barrack and the Bank of England as a garrison; camps in Hyde Park, etc. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 485.
- BROCKMAN, GEORGE. Philadelphia, January 2, 1777. To Robert Morris. In adjusting accounts of the prize ship Sam, got into a passion; apologizes and requests to be released from confinement. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 2, page 123.
- BRODHEAD, DANIEL (Colonel Eighth Pennsylvania Regiment). 1777. Recommends Dr. Jones to be brigade chaplain. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 13, page 51.

- . Pittsburg, June 27, 1779. To ——. Encroachments of the people on the rights of the garrison; fences erected within a few yards of the bastion; remonstrances have no effect; hopes Congress will declare their pleasure as to extent of this and other garrisons for parades, etc. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 191.
- . Pittsburg, October 9, 1779. To the President of Congress (John Jay). Quantities of military stores annually lost in this district through want of proper magazines and conductors; has appointed Captain Thomas Ferrot a deputy commissary of stores until the pleasure of Congress is known; he has proved most efficient; a child killed and girl taken prisoner by the Indians; desired to march against their towns, but was not at liberty to do so. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 354.
- . Pittsburg, October 26, 1779. To the President of Congress (John Jay). Inhabitants of Yoghaganian and Ohio Counties trespass on the Indian lands from the Muskingum to Fort McIntosh; measures taken to apprehend them and destroy the huts built; begs a letter to the governor and council of Virginia to prevent future trespass. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 383.
- . Pittsburg, November 22, 1779. To Archibald Steele (Deputy Quartermaster-General). Edward Ward and Thomas Smallman must be provided with other quarters, since it is necessary for defense to put the Maryland corps into the houses they occupy at present. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 445.
- . Pittsburg, February 27, 1780. To Richard Peters. An Indian expedition against the garrison feared; details of preparations made for defense; loyalty of two prominent inhabitants suspected; friendly professions of the Delawares; chiefs desire commissions in our service; public credit low in the district; impossibility of providing for the public horses unless money be furnished for forage. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 441.
- . Pittsburg, February, 1780. To ——. Measures taken to protect the fort against the Indians; posted men in a house occupied by Edward Ward and Thomas Smallman; has been proceeded against in consequence; these men treated with great consideration, notwithstanding their loyalty is suspected. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 187.

———. Fort Pitt, October 17, 1780. To Richard Peters. In order to cut off the Wyandotts and other Indians, called a draft from the militia, but the want of provisions discourages the people; his forage parties unsuccessful, for the cattle are driven into the mountains and the inhabitants threaten to arm against the troops; still hopes to obtain flour, but fears no beef or pork can be procured; Delaware chiefs and warriors have come to aid in an expedition, but there is no food to give them; they appear dejected. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 29.

———. Fort Pitt, February 18, 1781. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Has never been properly authorized or instructed as to the command of this district nor supplied with money or goods; has been compelled to advance out of his private fortune a considerable sum, and has also had to borrow and is unable to repay; prays Congress to either appoint an agent to transact public affairs with the Indians or empower him; incloses copy of a letter received from the Delawares; believes them sincere in professions of friendship; a number of chiefs wish to wait upon Congress in the spring. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 81.

———. Fort Pitt, March 10, 1781. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Acknowledges letter of 20th ultimo inclosing act of Congress respecting friendly Delaware Indians; communicated this intelligence to their council to secure their neutrality; fears that it is too late; a general war with the savages expected; would be well to propitiate them by giving them good clothing. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 133.

———. Philadelphia, May 30, 1781. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). Lays before Congress the state of things in the western department relative to supplies; threatened attack by the Indians on Fort Pitt and its dependencies; General Clark has an order for the artillery corps, all field artillery, and a detachment from the Eighth Pennsylvania and Ninth Virginia regiments; Maryland corps ordered to the southward; remaining force inadequate for the defense of one post; the British are said to be about to attack Fort Pitt; they will proceed from Niagara down the Allegheny River; Delaware Indians at Fort Pitt useful; in its present condition, the western department will doubtless fall into the hands of the enemy. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 221.

———. Philadelphia, July 6, 1781. To the President of Congress (Samuel Huntington). In May addressed Congress on the subject of supplies for the western department and the dangers threatened; is mortified to find no steps taken to subsist the troops and friendly Indians. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 215.

———. Fort Pitt, August 24, 1781. To the President of Congress (Thomas McKean). Incloses copies of letters from Rev. David Ziseberger, by which Congress may see the situation of affairs; has written to the president of Pennsylvania as to want of supplies, and distressed condition of the troops; will inform the inhabitants of the approaching danger, and will defend the country to the best of his ability; desires this letter and inclosures communicated to the Commander in Chief. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 203.

———. Fort Pitt, September 12, 1781. To the President of Congress (Thomas McKean). Petition and remonstrance from the inhabitants of Fort Pitt containing charges against him; Congress directed His Excellency the Commander in Chief to bring him to trial; was recommended by him to give up the command to the next in rank until the matter is settled; Captain Farrel, the bearer of this letter, will relate the circumstances in a candid manner. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 197.

———. Fort Pitt, October 28, 1781. To the President of Congress (Thomas McKean). In 1779 addressed a letter to the Board of War respecting the necessary range of Fort Pitt and other garrisons; shortly after Congress passed an act regulating the manner of taking it, etc.; previously had received letters from the Board of War directing him to act according to usage; in consequence, "process" has been issued against him; the Board of War will support him, however; the court of Westmoreland has taken the matter up; many actions commenced against him for trespass, etc.; situation impossible for him; can not comply with the expectations of his military superior and please a rabble; incloses extracts from letters. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 183.

———. Philadelphia, January 18, 1782. To the President of Congress (John Hanson). Joint letter from him and Lieutenant-Colonel S. Bayard, asking for the six months' nominal pay that has been allowed other officers. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 291.

———. Philadelphia, April 4, 1789. To the President of the United States (George Washington). Congratulates him on his election, and asks for a testimonial of his services in the late Army. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 4, page 577.

BRODHEAD, DANL., Jr. (Lieutenant). Philadelphia, July 13, 1779. Joseph Reed, president of the State of Pennsylvania, certifies to the fact of his having applied and signified his intention to enter the service as soon as opportunity offered; has been waiting ever since; is entitled to a position under the resolve of November 24. Chapter A, No. 78, volume 3, page 347.

Documentary History of the Constitution of the United States of America.

1786-1870.

DERIVED FROM THE RECORDS, MANUSCRIPTS, AND ROLLS
DEPOSITED IN THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

IV.—THE AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION AND RATI-FICATIONS BY THE SEVERAL STATES.

Congress of the United States,
begun and held at the City of New-York, on Wednesday the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE Conventions of a number of the States, having at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added: And as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government, will best ensure the benificent ends of its institution :

RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following Articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which Articles, when ratified by three fourths of the said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said Constitution ; viz^t

ARTICLES in addition to, and Amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Article the first.....After the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution, there shall be one Representative for every thirty thousand, until the number shall amount to one hundred, after which, the proportion shall be so regulated by Congress, that there shall be not less than one hundred Representatives, nor less than one Representative for every forty thousand persons, until the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred, after which the proportion shall be so regulated by Congress, that there shall not be less than two hundred Representatives, nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.

Article the second...No law, varying the compensation for the services of the Senators and Representatives, shall take effect, until an election of Representatives shall have intervened.

Article the third.....Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article the fourth.....A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

Article the fifth.....No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Article the sixth.....The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article the seventh . . No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Article the eighth...In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

Article the ninth . . In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Article the tenth.....Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted,

Article the eleventh....The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article the twelfth...The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS MUHLENBERG Speaker of the House of Representatives.

JOHN ADAMS, Vice-President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

N^o 2

Letter—Jan^y 15th 1790—from the Gov^r of the State of Maryland, and Act of said State, ratifying the Amendments to the Constitution of the U: States.—

transmitted to this Office, by order of the President of the United States—Jan^y 25th 1790.....

An Act to ratify certain articles in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America proposed by Congress to the Legislatures of the several States.

Whereas it is provided by the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States of America, that Congress whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to the said Constitution or on the application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the said Constitution when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States or by Conventions in three fourths thereof as the one or the other modes of ratification may be proposed by the Congress.

And Whereas at a Session of the United States begun and held at the City of New York on Wednesday the fourth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine, it was Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the said United States in Congress assembled two thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as amendments to the Constitution of the United States all or any of which articles when ratified by three fourths of the said Legislatures to be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the said Constitution viz^t—

Article the first. After the first enumeration, required by the first article of the Constitution there shall be one representative for every thirty thousand, until the number shall amount to one hundred; after which the proportion shall be ^{so} regulated by Congress that there shall be not less than one hundred Representatives, nor less than one Representative for every forty thousand persons, until the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred, after which the proportion shall be so regulated by Congress, that there shall not be less than two hundred Representatives, nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.—

Article the second. No law varying the compensation for the services of ^{the} Senators and Representatives shall take effect until an Election of Representatives shall have intervened.

Article the third. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of Religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.—

Article the fourth. A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.— Article the fifth. No Soldier shall in time of Peace be quartered in any House, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.— Article the Sixth. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.— Article the Seventh. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the Land or Naval forces, or in the Militia when in actual service in time of War or public danger, nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of Law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.— Article the eighth. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial Jury of the State and district wherein the Crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation to be confronted with the Witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining Witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of Counsel for his defence.—

Article the ninth. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty Dollars, the right of trial by Jury shall be preserved, and no fact, tried by a Jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.— Article the tenth. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.— Article the Eleventh. The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.—

Article the twelfth. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively or to the people.—

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland,

That the aforesaid articles and each of them be and they are hereby confirmed and ratified

By the House of Delegates December 17. 1789.

Act of the State of Delaware—adopting the Amendments to the Constitution—except the first Art
filed March 9th 1790—

Congress of the United States,
begun and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday the fourth of March one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

The Conventions of a number of the States having, at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive Clauses should be added: And as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government will best ensure the beneficent ends of its Institution—

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring, That the following Articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all, or any of which Articles, when ratified by three fourths of the said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said Constitution—Viz:

Articles in addition to, and amendment of, the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Article the First,....After the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution, there shall be one Representative for every thirty thousand, until the number shall amount to one hundred; after which, the proportion shall be so regulated by Congress, that there shall be not less than one hundred Representatives, nor less than one Representative for every forty thousand persons, until the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred; after which, the proportion shall be so regulated by Congress, that there shall not be less than two hundred Representatives, nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.

Article the second,.....No law, varying the compensation for the services of the Senators and Representatives, shall take effect, until an election of Representatives shall have intervened.

Article the Third.....Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of Religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of Speech, or of the Press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article the Fourth.....A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

Article the Fifth.....No Soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Article the Sixth.....The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article the Seventh, . . . No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Article the Eighth....In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial Jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed; which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of Counsel for his defence.

Article the Ninth.....In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by Jury shall be preserved, and no fact, tried by a Jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Article the Tenth,.....Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Article the Eleventh...The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article the Twelfth....The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS MUIHLENBERG Speaker
of the House of Representatives.

JOHN ADAMS, Vice-President of the United States,
and President of the Senate.

ATTEST,

JOHN BECKLEY, Clerk of the House of Representatives.
SAM. A. OTIS Secretary of the Senate.

The General Assembly of Delaware

Having taken into their Consideration the above amendments proposed by Congress to the respective Legislatures of the several States, Resolved, that the First Article be postponed. Resolved, that the General Assembly do agree to the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth Articles; and We do hereby assent to, ratify, and confirm the same, as Part of the Constitution of The United States.

State of Pennsylvania, to wit.

In pursuance of a Resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania being the Legislature thereof: I do hereby Certify that the paper hereunto annexed contains an exact and true Exemplification of the Act whereof it purports to be a Copy, by virtue whereof the several Amendments therein mentioned, proposed to the Constitution of the United States were on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania agreed to, ratified and confirmed.

Given under my Hand and the Seal of the State this eleventh day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety

RICHARD PETERS Speaker

An Act declaring the assent of this State to certain amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

Section 1st Whereas in pursuance of the fifth Article of the Constitution of the United States certain Articles of amendment to the said Constitution have been proposed by the Congress of the United States, for the consideration of the Legislatures of the several States: And Whereas this House being the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania, having maturely deliberated thereupon, have resolved to adopt and ratify the Articles hereafter enumerated, as part of the Constitution of the United States.

Section 2^d Be it therefore enacted and it is hereby enacted by the Representatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and by the Authority of the same, That the following amendments to the Constitution of the United States proposed by the Congress thereof viz^t

“Article 3. Congress shall make no Law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the Press, or the “right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition

 “the Government for a redress of grievances.

“Article 4th A well regulated Militia being necessary to the “security of a free State, the right of the people to keep
 “and bear Arms shall not be infringed.

“Article 5. No Soldier shall in time of peace be quartered
 “in any House without the consent of the Owner, nor in time “of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by Law.

“Article 6. The right of the people to be secure in their “persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable “searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no war“rants shall issue but upon probable cause supported by “oath or affirmation and particularly describing the place to “be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

“Article 7. No person shall be held to answer for a capital
 “or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or “indictment of a Grand-Jury, except in cases arising in the “land or naval forces or in the Militia when in actual service
 “in time of war or public danger, nor shall any person be “subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of “life or limb, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case
 “to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, “liberty or property, without due process of law, nor shall “private property be taken for public use without just com“pensation.

“Article 8. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall “enjoy the right of a speedy and public trial by an impartial “Jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have “been committed, which district shall have been previously “ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and “cause of the accusation to be confronted with the witnesses

“against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining “witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of “Counsel for his defence.

“Article 9. In suits at common law, where the value in con“troversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by “Jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a Jury shall be “otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, “than according to the rules of the Common Law.

“Article 10. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor exces“sive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments in“flicted”

“Article 11. The enumeration in the Constitution of certain “rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others “retained by the people.

“Article 12. The powers not delegated to the United States
“by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States are

Act of the State of Pennsylvania adopting the Amendments to the Constitution—

filed March 16th 1790—

New York 2^d April 1790.—

Sir

I have the Honor of transmitting to your Excellency, herewith inclosed, Exemplifications of three Acts of the Legislature of this State, passed at their present Session and to be with the highest Respect

Your Most Obedient Servant

GEO : CLINTON

The President of the United States.

THE PEOPLE of the State of New York, by the Grace of God, Free and Independent TO ALL to whom these presents shall come or may concern, Greeting: KNOW YE, that We having inspected the Records remaining in our Secretary's Office do find there a certain Act of our Legislature in the words and figures following "AN ACT ratifying certain "Articles in addition to and amendment of the Constitution "of the United States of America proposed by the Con- "gress. WHEREAS by the fifth Article of the Constitution of "the United States of America, it is provided that the Con- "gress whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it "necessary shall propose amendments to the said Constitu- "tion which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as "part of the said Constitution when ratified by the Legisla- "tures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conven- "tions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode

“of ratification may be proposed by the Congress. AND “WHEREAS in the Session of the Congress of the United “States of America begun and held at the city of New “York on Wednesday the fourth of March one thousand “seven hundred and eighty nine it was resolved by the “Senate and House of Representatives of the United States “of America in Congress assembled two thirds of both “Houses concurring, That the following Articles be pro“posed to the Legislatures of the several States as amend“ments to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of “which Articles when ratified by three fourths of the said “Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes as “part of the said Constitution Viz^t Articles in addition to
 “and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of “America proposed by Congress and ratified by the Legis“latures of the several States pursuant to the fifth article of “the original Constitution. ARTICLE THE FIRST..After the “first Enumeration required by the first Article of the Con“stitution there shall be one Representative for every thirty “thousand until the Number shall amount to one hundred,
 “after which the proportion shall be so regulated by Con“gress that there shall be not less than one hundred Rep“resentatives, nor less than one Representative for every “forty thousand persons until the Number of Representa“tives shall amount to two hundred, after which the pro“portion shall be so regulated by Congress that there shall “not be less than two hundred Representatives, nor more “than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.
 “ARTICLE THE SECOND..No Law, varying the Compensation “for the Services of the Senators and Representatives, shall “take effect until an Election of Representatives shall have “intervened. ARTICLE THE THIRD..Congress shall make “no law respecting an Establishment of Religion or prohib“iting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of “Speech or of the press, or the right of the People peaceably

 “to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress
 “of grievances. ARTICLE THE FOURTH..A well regulated “Militia being necessary to the Security of a free State, the “right of the People to keep and bear arms shall not be “infringed. ARTICLE THE FIFTH..No Soldier shall, in time “of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of “the Owner, nor in time of War, but in a manner to be pre“scribed by law. ARTICLE THE SIXTH..The right of the “People to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and “effects against unreasonable Searches and Seizures shall “not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue but upon “probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, and par“ticularly describing the place to be searched and the “persons or things to be seized. ARTICLE THE SEVENTH..
 “No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise “infamous Crime, unless on a presentment or Indictment of “a grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval “forces, or in the Militia when in actual service in time of “War or public danger nor shall any person be subject for “the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb
 “nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness “against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, “without due process of law nor shall private property be “taken for public Use without just compensation. ARTICLE
 “THE EIGHTH..In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall “enjoy the right to a speedy and public Trial by an impar“tial Jury of the State and district wherein the Crime shall “have been committed, which district shall have been previ“ously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature

 “and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the Wit“nesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtain“ing Witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of “Counsel for his defence. ARTICLE THE NINTH..In Suits
 “at Common Law where the value in controversy shall “exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by Jury shall be “preserved, and no fact tried by a Jury shall be otherwise “re-examined in any Court of the United States, than “according to the rules of the Common Law. ARTICLE THE “TENTH..Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive “fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.
 “ARTICLE THE ELEVENTH..The Enumeration in the Consti“tution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or “disparage others retained by the people. ARTICLE THE “TWELFTH..The powers not delegated to the United States
 “by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are “reserved to the States respectively, or to the people. AND “WHEREAS the Legislature of this State have considered the “said Articles and do agree to the same, except the second “Article: Therefore BE IT ENACTED by the People of the “State of New York represented in Senate and assembly
 “and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that
 “the said Articles, except the second, shall be and hereby are “ratified by the Legislature of this State. STATE OF NEW “YORK In Assembly February 22^d 1790, This Bill having “been read the third time, Resolved that the Bill do pass
 “By order of the Assembly, Gulian Verplanck, Speaker.
 “STATE OF NEW YORK, In Senate Februy 24th 1790, This “Bill having been read a third time, Resolved that the Bill

“do pass, By order of the Senate Isaac Roosevelt, President, pro hac vice. COUNCIL OF REVISION, 27th February 1790, Resolved that it does not appear improper to the Council that this Bill entitled “An Act ratifying certain articles in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America proposed by the Congress,” should become a Law of this State Geo: Clinton.” ALL WHICH We have caused to be Exemplified by these presents: IN TESTIMONY whereof We have caused these our Letters to be made patent and the Great Seal of our said State to be hereunto affixed: Witness our Trusty and well beloved GEORGE CLINTON Esquire, Governor of our said State, General and Commander in Chief of all the Militia and Admiral of the Navy of the same, at our City of New York the twenty seventh day of March in the Year one thousand seven hundred and Ninety, and in the fourteenth Year of our Independence.

STATE OF VERMONT.

An Act to authorize the People of this State to meet in Convention to deliberate upon and agree to the Constitution of the United States.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of this legislature, the future interest and welfare of this state, render it necessary that the constitution of the United States of America, as agreed to by the convention at Philadelphia, on the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, with the several amendments and alterations, as the same has been since established by the United States, should be laid before the people of this state for their approbation.

It is hereby enacted by the general assembly of the state of Vermont, That the first constable in each town shall warn the inhabitants who by law are entitled to vote for representatives in general assembly, in the same manner as they warn freemen's meetings, to meet in their respective towns on the first Tuesday of December next, at ten o'clock forenoon, at the several places fixed by law for holding the annual election, and when so met they shall proceed in the same manner as in the election of representatives, to choose some suitable person from each town to serve as a delegate in a state convention, for the purpose of deliberating upon and agreeing to the constitution of the United States as now established; and the said constable shall certify to the said convention the person so chosen in manner aforesaid. And,

It is hereby further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the persons so elected to serve in state convention as aforesaid, to assemble and meet together on the first Thursday of January next, at Bennington, in the county of Bennington, then and there to deliberate upon the aforesaid constitution of the United States, and if approved of by them, finally to assent to, and ratify the same in behalf and on the part of the people of this state, and make report thereof to the governour of this state, for the time being, to be by him communicated to the president of the United States, and the legislature of this state.

STATE OF VERMONT.

Secretary's Office, Bennington, Jan. 21, 1791.

The preceding is a true copy of an act passed by the legislature of the state of Vermont, the twenty-seventh day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety.

Attest.

ROSWELL HOPKINS,

Secretary of State.

In Convention of the Delegates of the People of the State of Vermont.

WHEREAS by an act of the commissioners of the state of New York, done at New York, the seventeenth day of October, in the fifteenth year of the independence of the United States of America, one thousand seven hundred and ninety, every impediment, as well on the part of the state of New York, as on the part of the state of Vermont, to the admission of the state of Vermont into the union of the United States of America, is removed. In full faith and assurance that the same will stand approved and ratified by Congress.

This convention having impartially deliberated upon the constitution of the United States of America, as now established, submitted to us by an act of the general assembly of the state of Vermont, passed October twenty-seventh, one thousand seven hundred and ninety, do, in virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, fully and entirely approve of, assent to and ratify the said constitution ; and declare, that immediately from and after this state shall be admitted by the Congress into the union, and to a full participation of the benefits of the government now enjoyed by the states in the union, the same shall be binding on us, and the people of the state of Vermont for ever.

Done at Bennington, in the county of Bennington, the tenth day of January, in the fifteenth year of the independence of the United States of America, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one. In testimony whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

Virginia towit:

Subsequent Amendments agreed to in Convention as necessary to the proposed Constitution of Government for the United States, recommended to the consideration of the Congress which shall first assemble under the said Constitution to be acted upon according to the mode prescribed in the fifth article thereof:

Videlicet;

That there be a Declaration or Bill of Rights asserting and securing from encroachment the essential and unalienable Rights of the People in some such manner as the following;

First, That there are certain natural rights of which men, when they form a social compact cannot deprive or divest their posterity, among which are the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety. Second. That all power is naturally vested in and consequently derived from the people; that Magistrates, therefore, are their trustees and agents and at all times amenable to them. Third, That Government ought to be instituted for the common benefit, protection and security of the People; and that the doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind. Fourth, That no man or set of Men are entitled to exclusive or seperate public emoluments or privileges from the community, but in Consideration of public services; which not being descendible, neither ought the offices of Magistrate, Legislator or Judge, or any other public office to be hereditary. Fifth, That the legislative, executive, and judiciary powers of Government should be separate and distinct, and that the members of the two first may be restrained from oppression by feeling and participating the public burthens, they should, at fixt periods be reduced to a private station, return into the mass of the people; and the vacancies be supplied by certain and regular elections; in which all or any part of the former members to be eligible or ineligible, as the rules of the Constitution of Government, and the laws shall direct. Sixth, That elections of representatives in the legislature ought to be free and frequent, and all men having sufficient evidence of permanent common interest with and attachment to the Community ought to have the right of suffrage: and no aid, charge, tax or fee can be set, rated, or levied upon the people without their own consent, or that of their representatives so elected, nor can they be bound by any law to which they have not in like manner assented for the public good. Seventh, That all power of suspending laws or the execution of laws by any authority, without the consent of the representatives of the people in the legislature is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised. Eighth, That in all capital and criminal prosecutions, a man hath a right to demand the cause and nature of his accusation, to be confronted with the accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence and be allowed counsel in his favor, and to a fair and speedy trial by an impartial Jury of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty, (except in the government of the land and naval forces) nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself. Ninth, That no freeman ought to be taken, imprisoned, or disseised of his freehold, liberties, privileges or franchises, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property but by the law of the land. Tenth, That every freeman restrained of his liberty is entitled to a remedy to enquire into the lawfulness thereof, and to remove the same, if unlawful, and that such remedy ought not to be denied nor delayed. Eleventh. That in controversies respecting property, and in suits between man and man, the ancient trial by Jury is one of the greatest Securities to the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolable. Twelfth. That every freeman ought to find a certain remedy by recourse to the laws for all injuries and wrongs he may receive in his person, property or character. He ought to obtain right and justice freely without sale, compleatly and without denial, promptly and without delay, and that all establishments or regulations contravening these rights, are oppressive and unjust. Thirteenth, That excessive Bail ought not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted. Fourteenth, That every freeman has a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and siezures of his person, his papers and his property; all warrants, therefore, to search suspected places, or sieze any freeman, his papers or property, without information upon Oath (or affirmation of a person religiously scrupulous of taking an oath) of legal and sufficient cause, are grievous and oppressive; and all general Warrants to search suspected places, or to apprehend any suspected person, without specially naming or describing the place or person, are dangerous and ought not to be granted. Fifteenth, That the people have a right peaceably to assemble together to consult for the common good, or to instruct their Representatives; and that every freeman has a right to petition or apply to the legislature for redress of grievances. Sixteenth, That the people have a right to freedom of speech, and of writing and publishing their Sentiments; that the freedom of the press is one of the greatest bulwarks of liberty and ought not to be violated. Seventeenth, That the people have a right to keep and bear arms; that a well regulated Militia composed of the body of the people trained to arms is the proper, natural and safe defence of a free State. That standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, and therefore ought to be avoided, as far as the circumstances and protection of the Community will admit; and that in all cases the military should be under strict subordination to and governed by the Civil power. Eighteenth, That no Soldier in time of peace ought to be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, and in time of war in such manner only as the laws direct. Nineteenth, That any person religiously scrupulous of bearing arms ought to be exempted upon payment of an equivalent to employ another to bear arms in his stead. Twentieth, That religion or the duty which we owe to our Creator, and the manner of discharging it can be directed only by reason and conviction, not by force or violence, and therefore all men have an equal, natural and unalienable right to the free exercise of religion according to the dictates of conscience, and that no particular religious sect or society ought to be favored or established by Law in preference to others.

Amendments to the Body of the Constitution.

First, That each State in the Union shall respectively retain every power, jurisdiction and right which is not by this Constitution delegated to the Congress of the United States or to the departments of the Fœderal Government.

Second, That there shall be one representative for every thirty thousand, according to the Enumeration or Census mentioned in the Constitution, until the whole number of representatives amounts to two hundred; after which that number shall be continued or increased as the Congress shall direct, upon the principles fixed by the Constitution by apportioning the Representatives of each State to some greater number of people from time to time as population encreases.

Third, When Congress shall lay direct taxes or excises, they shall immediately inform the Executive power of each State of the quota of such state according to the Census herein directed, which is proposed to be thereby raised; And if the Legislature of any State shall pass a law which shall be effectual for raising such quota at the time required by Congress, the taxes and excises laid by Congress shall not be collected, in such State.

Fourth, That the members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be ineligible to, and incapable of holding, any civil office under the authority of the United States, during the time for which they shall respectively be elected.

Fifth, That the Journals of the proceedings of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be published at least once in every year, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances or military operations, as in their judgment require secrecy.

Sixth, That a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published at least once in every year. Seventh, That no commercial treaty shall be ratified without the concurrence of two thirds of the whole number of the members of the Senate; and no Treaty ceding, contracting, restraining or suspending the territorial rights or claims of the United States, or any of them or their, or any of their rights or claims to fishing in the American seas, or navigating the American rivers shall be but in cases of the most urgent and extreme necessity, nor shall any such treaty be ratified without the concurrence of three fourths of the whole number of the members of both houses respectively. Eighth, That no navigation law, or law regulating Commerce shall be passed without the consent of two thirds of the Members present in both houses. Ninth, That no standing army or regular troops shall be raised or kept up in time of peace, without the consent of two thirds of the members present in both houses. Tenth, That no soldier shall be enlisted for any longer term than four years, except in time of war, and then for no longer term than the continuance of the war. Eleventh, That each State respectively shall have the power to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining it's own Militia, whensoever Congress shall omit or neglect to provide for the same. That the Militia shall not be subject to Martial law, except when in actual service in time of war, invasion, or rebellion; and when not in the actual service of the United States, shall be subject only to such fines, penalties and punishments as shall be directed or inflicted by the Laws of its own State. Twelfth That the exclusive power of legislation given to Congress over the Fœderal Town and its adjacent District and other places purchased or to be purchased by Congress of any of the States shall extend only to such regulations as respect the police and good government thereof. Thirteenth, That no person shall be capable of being President of the United States for more than eight years in any term of sixteen years. Fourteenth That the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such courts of Admiralty as Congress may from time to time ordain and establish in any of the different States: The Judicial power shall extend to all cases in Law and Equity arising under treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States; to all cases affecting ambassadors other foreign ministers and consuls; to all cases of Admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or States, and between parties claiming lands under the grants of different States. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other foreign ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction; in all other cases before mentioned the supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction as to matters of law only: except in cases of equity, and of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, in which the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make. But the judicial power of the United States shall extend to no case where the cause of action shall have originated before the ratification of this Constitution; except in disputes between States about their Territory, disputes between persons claiming lands under the grants of different States, and suits for debts due to the United States. Fifteenth, That in criminal prosecutions no man shall be restrained in the exercise of the usual and accustomed right of challenging or excepting to the Jury. Sixteenth, That Congress shall not alter, modify or interfere in the times, places, or manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives or either of them, except when the legislature of any State shall neglect, refuse or be disabled by invasion or rebellion to prescribe the same. Seventeenth, That those clauses which declare that Congress shall not exercise certain powers be not interpreted in any manner whatsoever to extend the powers of Congress. But that they may be construed either as making exceptions to the specified powers where this shall be the case, or otherwise as inserted merely for greater caution. Eighteenth, That the laws ascertaining the compensation to Senators and Representatives for their services be postponed in their operation, until after the election of Representatives immediately succeeding the passing thereof; that excepted, which shall first be passed on the Subject. Nineteenth, That some Tribunal other than the Senate be provided for trying impeachments of Senators. Twentieth, That the Salary of a Judge shall not be increased or diminished during his continuance in Office, otherwise than by general regulations of Salary which may take place on a revision of the subject at stated periods of not less than seven years to commence from the time such Salaries shall be first ascertained by Congress. And the Convention do, in the name and behalf of the People of this Commonwealth enjoin it upon their Representatives in Congress to exert all their influence and use all reasonable and legal methods to obtain a Ratification of the foregoing alterations and provisions in the manner provided by the fifth article of the said Constitution; and in all Congressional laws to be passed in the mean time, to conform to the spirit of those Amendments as far as the said Constitution will admit.

Done in Convention this twenty seventh day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty eight.

By order of the Convention.

 President of the Senate

NOTE.—The eleventh amendment was declared by the President, in a message to Congress dated January 8, 1798, to have been ratified by three-fourths of the States.

EIGHTH CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES;

AT THE FIRST SESSION,

Begun and held at the city of Washington, in the territory of Columbia, on Monday, the seventeenth of October, one thousand eight hundred and three.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, Two thirds of both houses concurring, that in lieu of the third paragraph of the first section of the second article of the constitution of the United States, the following be proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which when ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures of the several states, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, to wit:

The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.—The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

NATH^L MACON Speaker of the House of Representatives.

An Act

to ratify an amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America proposed by Congress to the Legislatures of the several States;

Whereas it is provided by the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States of America, that Congress whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary shall propose amendments to the said Constitution or on the application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several states shall call a convention for proposing amendments which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said Constitution when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States or by conventions in three fourths thereof as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress. And whereas at the first Session of the Eighth Congress of the United States begun and held at the city of Washington in the Territory of Columbia on monday the seventeenth day of October in the year of our Lord One thousand Eight hundred and ^{Three} it was Resolved as followeth to wit, Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled two thirds of both Houses concurring that in lieu of the third paragraph of the first Section of the Second article of the Constitution of the United States the following be proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which when ratified by three fourths of the Legislatures of the several States shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the said Constitution to wit The Electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for President and Vice President one of whom at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves ; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President and in distinct ballots [“the ballots” stricken out] the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President and of all persons voted for as Vice President, and of the number of votes for each which List they shall sign and certify and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States directed to the President of the Senate, The President of the Senate shall in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives open all the Certificates and the votes shall then be counted ; The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed ; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president the House of Representatives shall choose immediately by Ballot the President,. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by States the representation of each State having one vote a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the States and a majority of all the States, shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them before the fourth day of march next following then the Vice President shall act as President as in the case of the death or other Constitutional disability of the President, The person having the greatest number of Votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority then from the two highest numbers on the List the Senate shall choose the Vice President, a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland That the aforesaid amendment be and it is hereby confirmed and ratified—

General Assembly begun and held at the Capitol in the City of Richmond, on Monday, the fifth day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and three, and of the Commonwealth the twenty eighth.

Resolved by the General Assembly of Virginia, that the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed at the first Session of the eighth Congress, by a resolution of the Senate and house of representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled, to the several State Legislatures, be, and the same is hereby upon the part of this Legislature, ratified and made a part of the constitution of the United States ; which amendment is in the following words :

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and Vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves ; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots, the person voted for as vice-president ; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each ; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the Senate ; the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes for president, shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed ; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president ; but, in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote. A quorum for this purpose, shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states ; and a majority of all the states, shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death, or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president, shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president. A quorum for the purpose, shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number, shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president, shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

And if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately by ballot the President—but in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one vote. A quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them before the fourth day of March next following then the Vice President shall Act as President as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President, shall be the Vice President if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed. And if no person have a majority then from the two highest numbers on the lists the Senate shall choose the Vice President. A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice; but no person constitutionally ineligible to the Office of President shall eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.”

And Whereas the Senate and House of Representatives of this State do approve of the said proposed amendment—

Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia in General Assembly met, and it is enacted by the authority of the same, that the said proposed amendment of the Constitution of the United States above recited, be and the same is hereby assented and agreed to, confirmed and ratified.

[INDORSEMENT.]

Rec'd in Governor Alston's letter of 27th Oct. 1814

In the House of Representatives

Dec^r 7th 1813.

The following report was made (viz)

“The Committee to whom was referred a Resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives of the U. S. recommending an alteration & amendment of the Constitution, passed by the Congress of the U. S. on the of respectfully Report.

That the resolution referred to them was originally presented to the last Legislature and referred by them to a Select Committee who reported thereon—That the report of that Select Committee & the resolution were several times taken up and Considered by the House and ultimately postponed on the 21st Dec^r 1811 without their coming to any final decision in regard to them—

That the aforesaid Resolution was again brought to the view of the Legislature at the late September Session by a Message of his Excellency the Governour N^o 2 reminding them that no decision had been made thereon and enclosing a Resolve of the State of New-Hampshire approving and adopting the same—

That at the September Session a Committee was appointed to examine the Journals & report the proceedings of the preceding Legislature in the Case; & that the report made by it & the Resolution of Congress were ordered to lie on the table, and not further acted upon—

Your Committee beg leave further to report, that respect to the recommendation of the Congress of the U. S. & to our Sister States would seem to require of the House that they should during the present Session take up and finally dispose of the Resolution by adopting or rejecting it, and that in their opinion it ought to be rejected

The Constitution of the U. S. has already provided “That no Title of Nobility shall be granted by the U. S. And no person holding any office of profit or Trust under them shall, without the Consent of Congress accept of any present, emolument office or Title of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince or Foreign State—Congress have in more instances than one within the knowledge of your Committee exercised the power vested in them by the above provision, and refused permission to Individuals in high public offices to accept of presents offered by Foreign Powers, nor are they aware of any inconveniences which have arisen and required further provisions on this Subject to be ingrafted in the Constitution of the U. S. At all events & should they be mistaken in this respect, the Committee are of opinion that the amendment proposed & submitted to their consideration is not the proper remedy; and that under its provisions, & the terms in which it is worded, consequences might follow & evils accrue as well to innocent Citizens individually as to the Community at large, which were neither foreseen nor contemplated by the Framers of the Resolution.

Under these impressions your Committee recommend that the House reject the aforesaid resolution & adopt the following resolutions to that effect “Resolved by the Senate & House of Representatives of the State of S^o C^a that they deem it inexpedient to adopt & therefore reject on the part and in behalf of the State of S^o Carolina the Resolution submitted to them & passed by the Congress of the U. S. on the — day of in the following words (to wit) “Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the U. S. of America in Congress assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following Section be submitted to the Legislatures of the several states, which when ratified by the Legislatures of Three fourths of the States shall be valid and binding as a part of the Constitution of the U. S. “If any Citizen of the U. S. shall accept claim receive or retain any Title of Nobility or Honor; or shall without the consent of Congress accept and retain any present, pension Office or emolument of any kind whatever from any Emperor, King, Prince or Foreign Power, such person shall cease to be a Citizen of the U. S. and shall be incapable of holding any Office of Trust or profit under them or either of them"—

Resolved that his Excellency the Governor be requested to forward Copies of the above resolution rejecting on the part of and in behalf of the State of S^o C^a the amendment proposed by the Congress of the U. S. & passed on the day of to the President of the Senate & the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the U. S. and to each and all of the Governors of the several States''

Joint Resolutions
Ratifying The Amendment Proposed To The Constitution
Of The United States.

Whereas the Congress of the United States, after solemn and mature deliberation therein, has, by a vote of two thirds of both houses passed "A Joint Resolution submitting to the Legislatures of the several States a proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States," which resolution is in the following words.

"Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following Article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution, namely;

Section II. Congress shall have power to enforce this Article by appropriate legislation."

And

Whereas, American Slavery, in its wickedness and infatuation, has added to its many other heinous sins, the crime of waging a causeless, cruel and bloody war, for the avowed purpose of dividing and destroying the Nation, whereby it has forfeited all right to further toleration, and has clearly demonstrated that its continuance is wholly incompatible with the safety and preservation of a free Republican Government; and "that in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," it has become necessary to utterly destroy this barbarous foe of civilization, humanity and religion; therefore;

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That in the name and in behalf of the People of this State, we do hereby ratify, approve and assent to the said Amendment.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-five.

An Act ratifying an Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, proposed by the two Houses of Congress to the Legislatures of the several States.

Whereas the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States did on the thirty-first day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, Resolve, two thirds of both Houses concurring, "That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the said Constitution, namely, Article XIII. Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this Article by appropriate legislation."

Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, That the said amendment be and it is hereby agreed to, ratified and confirmed, on the part of this Commonwealth to become valid as part of the Constitution of the United States, as soon as the same shall be ratified by three fourths of the Legislatures of the several States.

HOUSE....No. 54.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON,) February 8th, 1865.)

To the Honorable the House of Representatives:

The Act of the General Court of Massachusetts "ratifying an Amendment of the Constitution of the United States proposed by the two Houses of Congress to the legislatures of the several States," has been laid before me by the secretary of the Commonwealth, for approval, and it being thus presented, I have signed it, gladly coöperating in form, with the legislature, in a transaction so momentous and significant. This amendment was proposed by Congress in due conformity to the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States, which provides that "the Congress," (which by the first article is defined to 'consist of a Senate and House of Representatives,') whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution * * * which * * * shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress."

But the occasion of the laying of this Act before me for approval, seems to invite some comments upon the relation of the governor to the legislation of the general court, which I herewith respectfully submit to your consideration.

That relation is established by the second article of the first section of the first chapter of the Constitution of Massachusetts, which provides that "no bill or resolve of the Senate or House of Representatives shall become a law, and have force as such until it shall have been laid before the governor for his revisal." But this provision is of necessity to be limited to legislative Acts, having their origin in the powers which the legislative body (defined by the same section as "formed by two branches, a Senate and House of Representatives,") derives from the Constitution of Massachusetts itself. It cannot apply to cases in which a power is specifically granted by the Constitution of the United States to the legislature of the State, and when the action of the legislative body alone is required by the terms of that Constitution in order completely to execute such power. If the revisal of the governor is necessary in order to complete an Act ratifying an amendment to the Federal Constitution, then in case of his objection to a bill of ratification, it becomes necessary for two-thirds of both branches of the legislature to agree to pass such bill, in order to effect such ratification on the part of this Commonwealth. Thus the veto power with which the governor is invested by the Constitution of Massachusetts, would be extended so as to include transactions which spring directly from the Constitution of the United States, and are therein in all respects provided for. This would be not only extending the veto power by implication, but extending it also against the rights of the other States, and of the people of the United States, whose right it is that the decision of the legislature (to which alone the Federal Constitution appeals in a case like the present,) should not be limited by the interference of the governor. The fact that the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States provides for an alternative mode of ratification by "conventions" instead of by "legislatures," and that Congress may at pleasure propose the one or the other mode, is of itself decisive. If a "convention" should ratify a proposed amendment, the revisal by the governor, of the act of the Convention, would surely not be contemplated, and his signature of such act would be wholly inappropriate, however cordially he might approve it.

On a previous occasion I have had the honor to express to the general court some opinions of the competency of a State to superadd qualifications to those prescribed by the Constitution of the United States; and I beg respectfully to refer to a message transmitted to the general court of 1862 and printed as No. 132 of Senate documents of that year, as including considerations of the general subject, which have application to this special case.

On the day following the passage of the present Act of Ratification to a third reading in the House of Representatives, I received from the office of the Secretary of State of the United States, a copy duly authenticated by him, under date of February 2, of the Resolution of Congress proposing to the legislatures of the several States the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which has now been ratified by Massachusetts. Had I received this copy earlier, I should have transmitted it to the general court, for its information. But since no difference appears between the language of the proposed amendment, as certified in this copy, and the recitation of it in the Act of the general court, I have caused the copy to be filed by the secretary of the Commonwealth, with the public archives of his office, without such previous transmission.

I have deemed that course the more appropriate and respectful, lest by transmitting it I might seem to assume that the proceeding of the general court to consider the subject prior to such transmission, was irregular and improvident. In this connection I ask leave to remark that the question thus suggested, did not escape my attention. The Resolve of Congress proposing the Amendment, is, in the highest sense, both a matter of public history, and an act of public legislation of which every court, both State and Federal, in the Union, will take judicial notice, recognizing it as a fact within its own knowledge, and resorting, where memory is at fault, to such documents of reference as may be at hand and be deemed worthy of confidence. In the exercise of its own proper discretion, the general court of Massachusetts has taken judicial notice of the passage of the Resolution of Congress; and although any approval of my own is superfluous, I have deemed it an honor to certify such approval, by my official signature. But by this message I desire to prevent the form of approval, in this instance, from being drawn into a precedent which might seem wrongfully to enlarge the powers of the governors of States, in like cases, and correspondingly to limit the powers granted by the Federal Constitution exclusively to legislatures of the States.

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt on yesterday of your favor of the 2^d ins't, enclosing a copy of the Joint Resolution of Congress entitled "A Resolution submitting to the legislatures of the Several States a proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States" and requesting me to submit the same to the Legislature of Louisiana for its decision

I have the satisfaction to inform you, that on the same day I received it, I sent a message to the Legislature (See Copy enclosed) which was promptly acted on by the lower House (the Senate not being in Session) and as you will perceive from the proceedings herewith transmitted, the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States was ratified by the unanimous Vote of that body.

I have no doubt of the Concurrence of the Senate by an equally decisive vote and as soon as the ratification is complete, I will transmit you a Certified copy of the action of the Legislature in the premises.

Availing myself of the occasion to congratulate you on the favorable prospects of Consummating this great and glorious measure, for the extinguishment of Slavery throughout our entire Country.

I remain Sir

With high respect

Your obedient Servant

MICHAEL HAHN

Governor of the State of Louisiana

P. S. Since the foregoing was written, the Senate has met and ratified the amendment by a vote of 18 against 1.

I now have the satisfaction to transmit you herewith, a certified copy of the Joint Resolution of the General Assembly ratifying the Amendment and I need hardly observe Sir, that it is one of the most pleasant acts of my life. I feel proud of ^{our} new State and trust that the ^{fresh} evidence she has given of her devotion to the Union and the principles of universal freedom will serve to convince those who would destroy her status, that she is deserving of their confidence and respect—

I again have the honor to Subscribe Your very Obedient Servant

United States, the following communication and certified copy of an amendment proposed by Congress for ratification by the Legislatures of the several States :

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, }
 DEPARTMENT OF STATE, }
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 2, 1865. }

To his excellency, the governor of the State of Louisiana, New Orleans, La. :

SIR—I transmit an attested copy of a joint resolution of Congress, approved on the 1st inst, proposing to the Legislatures of the several States a thirteenth article to the constitution of the United States. Your excellency is requested to cause the decision of the Legislature of Louisiana to be taken upon the subject. An acknowledgment of the receipt of this communication is requested by your excellency's most obedient servant,

F. W. SEWARD,
 Acting Secretary.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, }
 DEPARTMENT OF STATE. }

To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting :

I certify that annexed is a true copy of a joint resolution of Congress, entitled "A resolution submitting to the Legislatures of the several States a proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States," the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof, I, William H. Seward, secretary of state of the United States, have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused the seal of the department of state to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, 2d day of February, A. D. 1865, and of the Independence of the United States of America the 89th.

(Signed)

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

A resolution submitting to the legislatures of the several States a proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States :

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring, That the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the said Constitution, namely :

ARTICLE XIII.

SECTION 1. Neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Approved February 1, 1865.

I gladly and most earnestly recommend to the General Assembly the immediate ratification of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, so that the State of Louisiana may share the immortal honor of having performed her part in abolishing slavery throughout our common country.

(Signed)

An act declaring the assent of this State to a certain article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont :

Section 1. That the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction, proposed by the thirty-eighth Congress of the United States, at the second session of that body, begun and holden at the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia, on the first Monday of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty four, and approved February first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty five, in the words following, viz:

“Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both houses concurring,) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the said Constitution, namely:

“Article XIII.”

“Section I. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

“Section II. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.”

Be, and the same is hereby ratified.

Section 2. This Act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved, March 9th 1865.

State of Vermont,

Secretary of State's Office.

I hereby certify that the foregoing Act is a true Copy of an Act, passed by the General Assembly of this State, at the special session, holden March A. D. 1865, and approved on the ninth day of said month, as appears by the files and records of this office.

In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and [SEAL.] affix the Seal of this office, at Montpelier, this twenty-Eighth day of November A. D. 1865.

Hon W. H. Seward

Sec^y of State

Dear Sir

I have the honor of enclosing to you the adoption of the Congressional Amendment of the Federal Constitution abolishing slavery, by the Legislature of South Carolina

I am with great respect &c

B F PERRY

Whereas the Congress of the United States, by joint resolution approved on the first day of February Anno Domini 1865, proposed an amendment of the Constitution of the United States for the ratification of the Legislatures of the several States, which amendment is in the following words to wit

Article XIII.

Neither Slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist, within the limits of the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Section 2nd

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

1. Resolved. therefore by the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina, in General Assembly met, and by authority of the same, that the aforesaid proposed amendment of the Constitution of the United States be and the same is hereby accepted, and adopted and ratified by this State

2. Resolved.

That a certified copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution be forwarded by His Excellency the Provisional Governor, to the President of the United States, and also to the Secretary of State of the United States

3. Resolved.

That any attempt by Congress towards legislating upon the political status of former slaves, or their civil relations, would be contrary to the Constitution of the United States, as it now is, or as it would be altered by the proposed amendment—in conflict with the policy of the President declared in his amnesty proclamation, and with the restoration of that harmony upon which depends the vital interests of the American Union

In the Senate

Columbia S. C.

November 13 1865

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a correct copy of resolutions this day passed by both houses of the General Assembly.

WM. E. MARTIN

Clerk of the Senate.

The words "limits of the" are erroneously inserted in the 5th line of the Article XIII—as copied in the above.

Austin Texas, February 25. 1870

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of the Joint Resolution adopted by the Legislature of Texas on the 18th day of February 1870 as appears from the Journals of the two Houses.

J. J. REYNOLDS

Bvt Major Gen'l U S A

Commanding

William H. Seward,

Secretary of State of the United States,

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting:

Know Ye, that, whereas the Congress of the United States, on the 1st of February, last, passed a Resolution which is in the words following, namely:

“A Resolution submitting to the Legislatures of the several States a Proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States.

“Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both Houses concurring,) That the following Article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the said constitution, namely:—

“Article XIII.

“Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

“Section 2. Congress shall have authority to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.”

And, whereas it appears, from official documents on file in this Department, that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed, as aforesaid, has been ratified by the legislatures of the States of Illinois, Rhode Island,

Michigan, Maryland, New York, West Virginia, Maine, Kansas, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Missouri, Nevada, Indiana, Louisiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Vermont, Tennessee, Arkansas, Connecticut, New Hampshire, South Carolina, Alabama, North Carolina, and Georgia; in all twenty-seven States:

And, whereas the whole number of States in the United States is thirty-six; and whereas the before specially named States, whose legislatures have ratified the said proposed amendment, constitute three-fourths of the whole number of States in the United States:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, William H. Seward, Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of the second section of the Act of Congress, approved the twentieth of April, eighteen hundred and eighteen, entitled—"An Act to provide for the publication of the laws of the United States and for other purposes," do, hereby, certify that the amendment aforesaid has become valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this eighteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninetieth.

Thirty-ninth Congress of the United States, at the first session, begun and held at the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia, on Monday the fourth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both Houses concurring,) That the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

Article XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Ratifying the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas, the Congress of the United State has proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States an article designated as Article XIV. in the words following, to wit:—

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both Houses concurring,) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

Article XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress or as an officer of the United States or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay and debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Resolved by this Assembly, That the said Article be approved and adopted, and it is hereby ratified as a part of the Constitution of the United States of America.

Senate Joint Resolution.

Whereas. The Congress of the United States did by concurrent resolution, adopted at the first session of the thirty-ninth Congress, propose to the Legislatures of the several States, the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States, namely.

Article. 14. Section. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election, for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Therefore; Be it resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon; that the said amendment to the Constitution of the United States be and the same is hereby ratified.

ratifying an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas the Congress of the United States on the thirteenth day of June A. D. 1866, by Joint Resolution, proposed to the Legislatures of the several States an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in the words following, viz :

Article XIV.

Sec. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law, which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction, the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed: but when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in the rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation ^{therein} shall be reduced in the proportion, which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or Elector of President and Vice President or hold an office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof: but Congress may by a vote of two thirds of each House remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for service in suppressing insurrection or rebellion shall not be questioned: but neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave: but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. That Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this Article.

Therefore:—

Resolved: by the Senate and House of Representatives:

That the said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States; be and the same is hereby ratified by the Legislature of the State of Vermont.

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States has proposed to the several States the following amendment to the Federal Constitution viz :

“ARTICLE XIV.

“SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States ; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

“SECTION 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United-States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

“SECTION 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House, remove such disability.

“SECTION 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

“SECTION 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.”

No 2. Joint Resolution ratifying the Amendment proposing a XIVth Article to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas, the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, by a concurrent vote of two-thirds of both Houses, has proposed, to the Legislatures of the several States the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States, to be classified as Article fourteen of said Amendments, namely:

“Article XIV.

“Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

“Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced, in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

“Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector for President or Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in rebellion or insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

“Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

“Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this Article.”

STATE OF MAINE.

IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SEVEN.

An Act to ratify an amendment of the Constitution of the United States, proposed to the legislatures of the several states, by a resolution adopted at the first session of the thirty-ninth congress, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six.

Whereas, at the first session of the thirty-ninth congress of the United States of America, held at Washington in the District of Columbia, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, it was resolved as follows, viz :

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of both houses concurring), That the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid as a part of the Constitution, namely :

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

Section 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, or elector of president and vice president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Rep-representatives of the State of Maine in Legislature assembled, as follows, viz :

Section 1. That the said proposed amendment be and the same is hereby ratified on behalf of the State of Maine.

Section 2. This act shall take effect on its approval by the governor.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, January 17 1867.

Assembly Joint Resolution.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has adopted by a two thirds vote the subjoined:

“Be it Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives “of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
“(two thirds of both Houses concurring,) that the following “article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States
“as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, “which, when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures “shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely :

“Article Fourteenth.

“Section One. All persons born or naturalized in the United “States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens “of the United States and of the State wherein they reside.
“No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge
“the privileges or immunities of Citizens of the United “States ; nor shall any State deprive any person of life lib“erty or property without due process of law, nor deny to “any person within its jurisdiction, the equal protection of “the laws.

“Section Two. Representatives shall be apportioned among “the several states according to their respective numbers, “counting the whole number of persons in each state, exclud“ing Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any “election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice “President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a state, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty one years of age, and being citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein, shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in such state.

Section Three. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress or Elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who having previously taken an oath as a Member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an Executive or Judicial Officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section Four. The validity of the Public Debt of the United States, authorized by law including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations or claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section Five. Congress shall have power to enforce by ap-

“appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.” Now therefore,

Be it Resolved; conjointly, by the Senate and Assembly of “the state of Nevada, that the Legislature of the state of “Nevada does hereby ratify and confirm the amendment to “the Constitution of the United States of America, as pro- “posed to be made by Article Fourteen Sections one, two, “three, four and five of Constitutional Amendments.

Joint Resolution ratifying the Constitutional Amendment proposed by Congress:

Whereas Congress by its act of the 16th day of June 1866 proposed to the Legislatures of the several states, by way of amendment, a XIV Article to the Constitution of the United States, and whereas the people of Missouri in the election of the present General Assembly have indicated their approval of said amendment and whereas the measure is in itself eminently just and proper and greatly tends to a settlement of the issues growing out of the late rebellion. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Missouri that the proposed amendment, in words following viz: Art. XIV. Sec. 1.—All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the priveleges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. Sec. 2.—Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, representatives in Congress the executive and Judicial officers of a State or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State. Sec. 3.—No person shall be a Senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States or as a member of any State legislature or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House remove such disability. Sec. 4:—The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions, and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States; or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void. Sec. 5.—The Con-

ENROLLED [~~“ACT”~~ stricken out] No. One., SENATE OF INDIANA.

A Joint Resolution, accepting and ratifying certain Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, proposed by Congress to the Legislatures of the several States.

Whereas, Congress has, by a two thirds vote proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of said States shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of said Constitution, viz:

Article 14.

Section 1.

All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2.

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and judicial officers of a State, or the Members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in such State.

Section 3.

No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or Elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who having previously taken an oath as a Member of Congress, or as an Officer of the United States, or as a Member of any State Legislature, or as an Executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection, or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof.

But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties, for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, or any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claims for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this Article.

Therefore, be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That said proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the United States are hereby accepted and ratified on the part of the State of Indiana.

And, be it further Resolved, That the Governor be

Concurrent Resolution

Whereas the Congress of the United States, did on the Sixteenth day of June One thousand eight hundred and Sixty-Six, propose the following amendment to the Federal Constitution:

Article XIV

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No

State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the Several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in such State.

Section 3.—No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress or as an officer of the United States or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to Support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House remove such disability.

Section 4.—The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5.—The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

And Whereas, a copy of the same has been officially laid before this Legislature :

Therefore, be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, that the said amendment be, and the same is hereby ratified.

Joint Resolution Proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both Houses concurring :)

That the following Article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as a part of the Constitution, namely :

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States ; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive or judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume to pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slaves; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

It is therefore Resolved, that the Legislature of the State of Rhode Island do hereby ratify and confirm the said Fourteenth Article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and do hereby assent thereto.

Resolved, That His Excellency the Governor be and he hereby is directed to cause a copy of the foregoing Preamble and Resolution to be made and duly authenticated and to be transmitted to the Secretary of State of the United States, and other like copies thereof, to be made and to be transmitted to the presiding officers of the two Houses of Congress.

I hereby certify, That the foregoing is a true copy of a concurrent resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island passed on the 7th day of February, 1867.

[SEAL.] In testimony whereof, I, AMBROSE E. BURNSIDE, Governor of the State of Rhode Island, have hereto subscribed my name and affixed the Seal of said State, this thirteenth day of February, A. D. 1867.

RELATIVE TO AN AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Whereas, The Legislature has received official notification of the passage by both houses of the Thirty-ninth Congress of the United States, at its first session, of the following proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States, by a constitutional majority of two-thirds thereof in words following, to wit :

JOINT RESOLUTION, PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT OF THE CON-STITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both houses concurring,) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as a part of the Constitution, namely :

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECT. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crimes, the basis of representation shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of such citizens, twenty-one years of age, in such State.

SECT. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or Elector of President or Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an Executive or Judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each house remove such disability.

SECT. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

SECT. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

Therefore, resolved, That the said proposed amendment to the Constitution be, and the same is hereby ratified by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Resolved, That certified copies of the foregoing preamble and resolution be forwarded by the Governor to the President of the United States, to the Presiding Officer of the United States Senate, and the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has submitted to the several States for their action thereon, by an Act approved June the sixteenth, One thousand eight hundred and sixty six the following article fourteenth (14th) as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, namely

Article XIV. Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State, deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or representative in Congress or elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, who having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two thirds of each house remove such disability

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties, for services in suppressing

insurrection or rebellion shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave, but all such debts obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

Therefore,

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, That the foregoing recited article, fourteen (14), be, and the same is hereby fully approved and ratified as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

First. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Second. And Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

XIVth Amendment.

First. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are Citizens of the United States and the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; Nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of its laws.

Second. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of Electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the Members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein, shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Third. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress or elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office civil or military, under the United States, or under any State who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an Officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each House remove such disability.

Fourth. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Fifth. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

Joint Resolution ratifying the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas, both houses of the Thirty-ninth Congress of the United States, at its first session, by a constitutional majority of two thirds thereof, made the following proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States, in words following, to wit:

Joint Resolution proposing an Amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two thirds of both houses concurring), That the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid as a part of the constitution, namely:—

Article XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sect. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crimes, the basis of representation shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of such citizens, twenty-one years of age, in such state.

Sect. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two thirds of each house remove such disability.

Sect. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned.

But neither the United States, nor any state, shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sect. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

Therefore, Resolved, That the said proposed amendment to the Constitution be, and the same is hereby, ratified by the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina.

Resolve, Relating to the Joint Resolution of the Congress of the United States, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as Article Fourteen.

Whereas, The thirty ninth Congress of the United States, at its first session, passed the following proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States, by a Constitutional majority of two thirds thereof, in the words following to wit:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both Houses concurring) That the following Article be proposed to the Legislatures of the Several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by thre fourth, of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely,

Article Fourteen.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and Subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein, they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without^{due} process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the Several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or members of the Legislatures thereof is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in Rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the numbers of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in Such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or Elector of President and Vice President or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an Executive or Judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; But Congress may by a vote of two thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned; But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt, or obligation, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article: And whereas, Three fourths of the Legislatures of the States composing the United States are required to give assent to the said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States before it becomes a part thereof, therefore

Resolved, by the General Assembly of Alabama That we hereby ratify on behalf of the State of Alabama the above recited proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

A Resolution

Whereas, at the session of the Thirty-Ninth Congress it was resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, two-thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following article shall be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which amendment, when it shall have been ratified by three-fourths of the said Legislatures shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the said Constitution, namely:

Article Fourteen

[SEAL APPENDANT.] Section 1st

All persons born, or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of the citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2^d

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty one years of age, and citizens of the United States; or in any way abridge, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be rendered in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens, twenty one years of age in such State.

Section 3^d

No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or Elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same; or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4th

The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties; for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion shall not be questioned. But neither the United States, nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States; or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5th

The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Therefore, be it resolved, (if the Senate concur) that the said proposed amendment to the Constitution, be, and the same is hereby ratified by the Legislature of the State of Georgia.

BY THE GOVERNOR,

GARRICK MALLERY

Sec'y Comth and Keeper of the Seals.

An Act, to ratify the Joint Resolution of Congress, passed June 16th 1866; proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America.

Passed October 8th 1869.

Whereas, It is provided by the constitution of the United States of America, that Congress may, whenever two thirds of both houses deem it necessary, propose amendments to the same, to be ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions therein, as the one or the other mode may be proposed by Congress.

And, whereas, by the Congress of the United States, on the sixteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty six, the following Joint Resolution was adopted:

“Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both houses concurring) That the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three fourths of said legislature’s, shall be valid as part of the constitution, namely:

Article XIV

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial Officers of a State, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty one years of age in such state.

Section, 3. No person shall be a Senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any Office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an Oath as a member of Congress, or as an Officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive, or judicial Officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof, but Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Section, 4. The validity of the Public Debt, of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection and rebellion, shall not be questioned; but neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any Slave; but all such debts, obligations or claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Section, 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article."

Therefore, Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That the aforesaid Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America, be, and the same is hereby ratified.

Joint Resolution.

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of Texas has assembled under the Reconstruction Laws of the United States, and has received official notification through the Governor of the State that the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States comes properly before this body for its acceptance or rejection. The same being in the words following to wit:—

Joint Resolution proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two thirds of both Houses concurring.) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which when ratified by three fourths of said Legislatures shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely.

Article 14.

Section I. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the States wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section II. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section III. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, who having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Section IV. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Section V. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

William H. Seward,
Secretary of State of the United States,

To all to whom these presents may come, greeting:

Whereas the Congress of the United States on or about the sixteenth of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, passed a resolution which is in the words and figures following, to wit:

“Joint Resolution proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both Houses concurring,) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECTION 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SECTION 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SECTION 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or eman-icipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LA FAYETTE S. FOSTER,

President of the Senate pro tempore.

Attest: EDWD. MCPHERSON,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

J. W. FORNEY,

Secretary of the Senate."

And whereas by the second section of the act of Congress, approved the twentieth of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, entitled "An act to provide for the publication of the laws of the United States and for other purposes," it is made the duty of the Secretary of State forthwith to cause any amendment to the Constitution of the United States which has been adopted according to the provisions of the said Constitution to be published in the newspapers authorized to promulgate the laws, with his certificate specifying the States by which the same may have been adopted, and that the same has become valid to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution of the United States;

And whereas neither the act just quoted from nor any other law, expressly or by conclusive implication, authorizes the Secretary of State to determine and decide doubtful questions as to the authenticity of the organization of State legislatures or as to the power of any State legislature to recall a previous act or resolution of ratification of any amendment proposed to the Constitution;

And whereas it appears from official documents on file in this Department that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed as aforesaid has been ratified by the legislatures of the States of Connecticut, New Hampshire, Tennessee, New Jersey, Oregon, Vermont, New York, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, Kansas, Maine, Nevada, Missouri, Indiana, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts, Nebraska, and Iowa ;

And whereas it further appears from documents on file in this Department that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed as aforesaid has also been ratified by newly constituted and newly established bodies avowing themselves to be, and acting as the legislatures respectively of the States of Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Louisiana, South Carolina, and Alabama ;

And whereas it further appears from official documents on file in this Department that the legislatures of two of the States first above enumerated, to wit, Ohio and New Jersey, have since passed resolutions respectively withdrawing the consent of each of said States to the aforesaid amendment, and whereas it is deemed a matter of doubt and uncertainty whether such resolutions are not irregular, invalid and therefore ineffectual for withdrawing the consent of the said two States or of either of them to the aforesaid amendment ;

And whereas the whole number of States in the United States is thirty-seven, to wit : New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Alabama, Maine, Missouri, Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Texas, Iowa,

Wisconsin, Minnesota, California, Oregon, Kansas, West Virginia, Nevada and Nebraska ;

And whereas the twenty-three States first hereinbefore named, whose legislatures have ratified the said proposed amendment, and the six States next thereafter named, as having ratified the said proposed amendment by newly constituted and established legislative bodies, together constitute three-fourths of the whole number of States in the United States ;

Now, therefore, be it known that I, William H. Seward, Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of the second section of the Act of Congress approved the twentieth of April, eighteen hundred and eighteen, hereinbefore cited, do hereby certify that, if the resolutions of the legislatures of Ohio and New Jersey ratifying the aforesaid amendment are to be deemed as remaining of full force and effect, notwithstanding the subsequent resolutions of the legislatures of those States which purport to withdraw the consent of said States from such ratification, then the aforesaid amendment has been ratified in the manner hereinbefore mentioned and so has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed

William H. Seward,

Secretary of State of the United States,

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting,

Whereas by an Act of Congress passed on the twentieth of April one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, entitled "An Act to provide for the publication of the laws of the United States and for other purposes" it is declared, that whenever official notice shall have been received at the Department of State that any amendment which heretofore has been and hereafter may be proposed to the Constitution of the United States has been adopted according to the provisions of the Constitution, it shall be the duty of the said Secretary of State forthwith to cause the said amendment to be published in the newspapers authorized to promulgate the laws, with his certificate, specifying the States by which the same may have been adopted, and that the same has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

And whereas the Congress of the United States, on or about the sixteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, submitted to the legislatures of the several States a proposed amendment to the Constitution in the following words, to wit:

And whereas the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States on the twenty-first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, adopted and transmitted to the Department of State a concurrent resolution, which concurrent resolution is in the words and figures following, to wit:

“In Senate of the United States, July 21, 1868.

Whereas the legislatures of the States of Connecticut, Tennessee, New Jersey, Oregon, Vermont, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio Illinois, Minnesota, New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Michigan, Nevada, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Maine, Iowa, Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Alabama, South Carolina and Louisiana, being three fourths and more of the several States of the Union have ratified the fourteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States, duly proposed by two thirds of each House of the thirty-ninth Congress; therefore

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring) that said fourteenth article is hereby declared to be a part of the Constitution of the United States, and it shall be duly promulgated as such by the Secretary of State.

Attest

GEO. C. GORHAM,

thirds of both houses concurring) That the following Article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely,

Article XV.

Section. 1. That the right of Citizens of the United States, to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this Article by appropriate legislation.

Therefore. Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That in the name and behalf of the people of this State, we do hereby ratify, approve, and assent to, the said Amendment.

Resolved, That a copy of this assent and ratification, engrossed on parchment be transmitted by His Excellency the Governor, to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress, assembled and to the Secretary of State of the United States.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of a Joint Resolution of the Legislature of this State ratifying and adopting the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, passed at the June session 1869, and approved July 7, 1869, as taken from the Original now in this office.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand [SEAL.] and affixed the seal of said State this thirteenth day of September A. D. 1869.

NATHAN W. GOVE,

Dep. Secretary of State

Executive Department of Virginia

Richmond, October 22nd 1869.

Hon^e Hamilton Fish

Secretary of State of the United States

Sir

The General Assembly of Virginia having, on the 8th day of the present month, passed two several acts in ratification of Articles XIV and XV, proposed, respectively, as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, by Joint Resolutions of Congress adopted June 16th 1866 and February 27th 1869, I have the honor to enclose herewith duly authenticated copies of the said Acts of Assembly, in evidence of such ratification.

Very respectfully

G. C. WALKER

Governor of Virginia

Virginia :

I, Gilbert C. Walker, Governor of the State of Virginia, do hereby certify that J. Bell Bigger, whose genuine signature is subscribed in attestation of the within copy, is, as he there subscribes himself, Clerk of the House of Delegates and Keeper of the Rolls of Virginia; that his said attestation is in due form and according to the law of this State; and that to all his official acts full faith, credit and authority are due and ought to be given.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand as Governor, and caused the GREAT SEAL of the State to be affixed. DONE at the City of Richmond, this 20th day of October A. D. 1869, and in the ninety fourth year of the Commonwealth.

G. C. WALKER

BY THE GOVERNOR.

GARRICK MALLERY

Sec'y Comth and Keeper of the Seals.

An Act, to ratify the Joint Resolution of Congress, passed February 27th 1869, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Passed, October 8th 1869.

Whereas, it is provided by the Constitution of the United States of America that Congress may, whenever two thirds of both houses deem it necessary, propose amendments to the same, to be ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions therein, as the one or the other mode may be proposed by Congress, And, whereas, by the fortieth Congress of the United States, at the third session thereof, begun and held at the City of Washington, on Monday, the seventh day of December, eighteen hundred and sixty eight, it was,

“Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both houses concurring,) that the following article be proposed to the legislatures of the several states, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution: namely,

Article XV.

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote, shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation''

Therefore, Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That the aforesaid amendment to the Constitution of the United States, be, and the same is hereby ratified.

Joint Resolution, relating to the Joint Resolution of the Congress of the United States, proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, known as Article Fifteen.

Whereas, The fortieth Congress of the United States, at its last session, passed the following proposition to amend the constitution of the United States, by a constitutional majority of two-thirds thereof, in the following words, to wit:

“Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both houses concurring,) That the following Article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the constitution, namely: Article fifteen. Section I. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Section II. The Congress shall have power to enforce this Article, by appropriate legislation;”

And whereas, three-fourths of the Legislatures of the States composing the United States are required to give assent to the said proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States before it becomes a part thereof: therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly of Alabama, That we hereby ratify, on behalf of the State of Alabama, the above recited proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Resolved, That a certified copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution be forwarded, by the Governor of Alabama, to the President of the United States.

Hamilton Fish,

Secretary of State of the United States.

To all to Whom these Presents may come, Greeting:

Know Ye that, the Congress of the United States on or about the Twenty seventh day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty nine, passed a Resolution in the words and figures following: to wit—

“A Resolution proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both houses concurring,) That the following Article be proposed to the legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

Article XV.

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.”

And, further, that it appears from official documents on file in this Department that the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed as aforesaid has been ratified by the Legislatures of the States of North Carolina, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Maine, Louisiana, Michigan, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, New York, New Hampshire, Nevada, Vermont, Virginia, Alabama, Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Texas, in all twenty nine States.

And, further, that the States whose Legislatures have so ratified the said proposed Amendment, constitute three fourths of the whole number of States in the United States.

And, further, that it appears from an official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of the State of New York has since passed Resolutions claiming to withdraw the said ratification of the said Amendment which had been made by the Legislature of that State, and of which official notice had been filed in this Department.

And, further, that it appears from an official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of Georgia has by Resolution ratified the said proposed Amendment.

Now therefore, be it known that I, Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of the second section of the Act of Congress approved the twentieth day of April in the year eighteen hundred and eighteen, entitled "An Act to provide for the publication of the Laws of the United States and for other purposes," do hereby certify that the Amendment aforesaid has become valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this thirtieth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand [SEAL.] eight hundred and seventy, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety fourth.
